This evening is highly recommended by previous audiences. Please join us for an evening of discussion with Elementary school panelists including current Kindergarten parents, teachers, and guidance counselors.

You will learn how to prepare your new student for the school experience and yourself for navigating the school years. This is an interactive session to give parents the opportunity to ask questions.

This evening is for adults only

The presence of children inhibits the conversation. No baby-sitting will be available at the school. Thank you.

This is not a presentation on school curriculum.
