In affluent communities it is easy for children to acquire an attitude of entitlement. How often have you bought something for your child just because they wanted it or their friends had it? Parents know it is not in their child's best interest to indulge their every whim. Come hear Jan Faull speak about. Resisting Raising Children Who Fell Entitled. She'll cover, How do parents teach responsibility and accountability instead? It's tough, but worthwhile because children who learn to delay gratification have better long term outcomes. Please join us in the BLMS Commons on April 20th.
